Copas Traditional Turkeys

A special Christmas dinner demands a special turkey.

We are delighted to offer you the very best of traditionally reared turkeys from Copas in Berkshire. With a passion for turkeys spanning 50 years, the Copas family marry the very best centuries old production values with state of the art facilities.

Copas turkeys, reared to the highest welfare standards, are dry plucked and hand finished before being hung to mature and develop a fuller flavour and succulent texture. The birds are fed on natural cereal-based feeds with no growth promoting additives.

Each Copas turkey comes dilligently wrapped in greaseproof paper and individually boxed with a sprig of rosemary, vacuum packed giblets, cooking instructions and a pop-up timer.

'We were delighted to find Copas Turkeys in our ongoing search for excellent quality food'

Rick Stein

Gartmorn Farm Traditional Turkeys

In addition to our Copas turkeys, we are pleased to offer traditional white free range turkeys from Gartmorn Farm who are located in Alloa.

Gartmorn Farm is nestled among some of Scotland's finest countryside, with the Ochil hills to the North and Gartmorn Nature Reserve to the South.

They have acres of clean, safe farmland in which their turkeys can wander freely as they please.

All of Gartmorn's turkeys are free range and are slowly matured over a twenty two week period, giving a leaner more flavoursome meat.

No artificial additives, growth promoters or water are added to their turkeys.

Gartmorn Farm was voted one of Rick Stein's local food heroes.

Linda Dick Free Range Capons

We are once again able to supply award winning Linda Dick free range capons over the festive period.

One of Heston Blumenthal's top 5 chickens in the UK, Linda Dick capons are truly free range. Free from additives and growth promoters, the capons are dry plucked and matured for one week, ensuring a bird which is the ultimate in taste and texture.
